

Bricks and Windows

Brandtson

I won't be the one to wait outside your door
Watch it all fall down around your head
I won't be that one anymore
So shine on me the sun
To white out my whole world
Catch it on my tongue
These words once said that I won't be that one

No not anymore
There's more than a million questions I could ask
But it wouldn't matter at all
So take me and tear me open
I won't bleed until you're gone
I don't understand your actions
