

Throwing Rocks Tonight

Brandtson

I wonder now and then
If I ever really knew what brought the end,
If I got the truth my friend,

So I brought you here tonight
To finally get to your insides,
Close the drapes and lock the door,
I'll ask once more, so.

I just have to know,
Is there something on your mind?
Maybe something that you never said,
Now all we have is time,
So break it over my head,

Blink your eyes
Once for 'yes'
Twice for 'no'
I'm listening,

Take your time
As you decide
We have all night to do this,

You're not going anywhere,
Tie your ankles to this chair.
Don't be scared, the choice is yours,
Truth or dare?

You look as sharp as this knife,
I'm not done with you and I.
You said you already told me why,
Well how 'bout now?

Is there something on your mind?
Maybe something that you never said,
Now all we have is time,
So break it over my head,

I'm just trying to break my fall
I meant you no harm at all.

So go on
Be you,
So strong
And so cruel.

It's just a thought I had,
It's really not that bad
