I step into a world
A world I have never seen before
Where the haunt is bagged and love is the core

Warm lights surrounding my unfrozen mind

Time is standing still for a blink of an eye

I'm no longer a slave of the human kind

My deepest fears seem to have lapsed

My enemies, antagonists, already collapsed

Now it feels like the biggest fight has been won in this life

But who's able to follow me over the edge of the knife?

Imaginary land please be real, I don't want to leave you anymor e

So please be sealed

Keep that burning door locked forever

I need to save the new essence

Let me breathe in the smell of hope until my Disappearance This is the new freedom called peace

Pick up the trail and follow me, away from the Worlds disease

This is the place for those who don't give up

The final destination beyond selfishness and every spiteful act I see your laughing face full of salvation, but Wait, there is something more

Suddenly I'm in a fight against the question Like a spike in my mind, unable to ignore Searching for a reason I can't find What am I even looking for?

Only one black thought and my knees are shaking I can feel my heartbeat, hear my heart scream The gloomy sounds of a tremor makes me Breathless

Like a wicked hand, it's on my neck

Trying to suppress my peace of mind

The lights turn green and I watch reality thrive What the hell is happening, this place can't break

I need to stay but I can't hide

Billows of smoke breaking through the ground

I'm falling but I don't want to be crawling out of my skin

The sad reality is catching up with me

This is the awakening