

The Dark of You

Breaking Benjamin

It must have been inside my head
I've lost the hope that I have left
And now, at last, it comes to pass
We sleep, we dream, we have no less

Along the path we lost our way
Its all a game that I must play
And now the weak that fall
Return to ash, defeated after all

Fade away to the wicked world we left, and I become the dark of you
Say a prayer for the wounded heart within, as I become the dark
of you

Let go, when all has come to life
We live, we breathe, we die
They call me to the light, forever lost in time
With every dream we find
We feed, we burn, we lie
The fall of humankind
The everlasting light

Fade away to the wicked world we left, and I become the dark of
you
Say a prayer for the wounded heart within, as I become the dark
of you

Let go, when all has come to life
We live, we breathe, we die
They call me to the light, forever lost in time
With every dream we find
We feed, we burn, we lie
The fall of humankind
The everlasting light

Fade away to the wicked world we left, and I become the dark of
you
Say a prayer for the wounded heart within, as I become the dark
of you
Let go, save this selfish world, save this selfish world
Save this selfish world, save this selfish world