Beautiful Girl

Broken Iris

Woke today, another memory passes of you Shades of gray from those three broken words That unfold the truth but...

I'll never forget those eyes, that beautiful smile. I still remember the way you said "good-bye" No matter how hard I try I can't forget about

Beautiful Girl On top of the world Don't fall down Because an angel Should never touch ground

Last embrace, forcing you away before it's too late I end this day in a most bitter way A regretful state but...

I'll never forget those eyes, that beautiful smile. I still remember the way you said "good-bye" No matter how hard I try I can't forget about

Beautiful Girl On top of the world Don't fall down Because an angel Should never touch ground

Here I lay, I drift away, you come in and lay beside me It's got to be a memory that feels so real but just beyond me Mesmerized, In you I find what I had was unrealized but Emptiness settles in as I awake

Beautiful Girl On top of the world Don't fall down Because an angel Should never touch ground