

The Breach

Buried In Verona

Pushed through every trail
Weathered all the tribulation you put us through
And did what we had to do to survive
This is our everything
What we were meant to do
The only way we know to express the good and the bad in our lives
You judge us before you know us
You leave us before you find us