

Dark, Infinite

Bury Tomorrow

Into the unknown we go

Lucidity is hard to come by when your still afraid of the world
Like a crack runs through a reflection cutting clarity itself
Close your eyes to make the visions stop
Reset to start, it's your only shot
I'd swear to god if I believed enough
I wish I could believe

Oblivion calling, like the edge of the night
Our hands, our minds, the birth of light
Oblivion calling, like the edge of the night
Our hands, our minds, the ends' in sight

I came here wanting this to change
It haunts me all the same
Condemned for all of my mistakes
The fear of being awake

Follow me, I'll show you another way to move
Like shadows through a fog, our shape removed Free yourself, you don't need them now
You can't be chained
No fear of what's to come
No stopping what's begun

Oblivion calling, like the edge of the night
Our hands, our minds, the birth of light
Oblivion calling, like the edge of the night
Our hands, our minds, the ends' in sight

I came here wanting this to change
It haunts me all the same
Condemned for all of my mistakes
The fear of being awake

Forever sick of meaning
Together we stop breathing

We've been standing on the edge for a long time now
Holding our breath so tight, we hardly make a sound
The only way we'll ever know if we exist
Is to take that leap
Dark infinite

We've been standing on the edge for a long time now
Holding our breath so tight, we hardly make a sound
The only way we'll ever know if we exist
Is to take that leap
Dark infinite

Dark infinite
Just take that leap, dark infinite