

Dawn

Candlemass

"Suddenly I awoke. I must have fallen asleep under the oak, where I used to sit and dream as a child
The dawn was soon to come, and the air was crisp and cold
Yet I felt warm
I remembered my strange dreams and knew I had the strength and love in my heart to create something in my life.
The world was waiting I was reborn"