

Cold hands and heavy eyes
Pale face in the moonlight
Gotta run, don't ask me why

I'm not low but I'm never high
I'm not sad but I never smile
I don't know how I feel inside and on, oh, on

In the silence of my bedroom
All these cracks begin to show
Our memories together as the ones I love the most
Searching oceans for something better
Had it all but I didn't know
Our memories together as the ones I love the most

Your touch and the way you move
I used to see right through
Shark waves break me in two

I'm not low but I'm never high
I'm not sad but I never smile
I don't know how I feel inside and on, oh, on

In the silence of my bedroom
All these cracks begin to show
Our memories together as the ones I love the most
Searching oceans for something better
Had it all but I didn't know
Our memories together as the ones I love the most

Searching oceans for something better
Had it all but I didn't know
Our memories together as the ones I love the most
Our memories together as the ones I love the most
Our memories together as the ones I love the most
