Reruns

Chicago

We've been through it all before But you brought it up once more I let you down, can't forget it You forgave me, you won't let it fade away

I will not discuss the past Life goes by us much too fast To look behind and dwell on trouble Someday it could burst our bubble by and by

All we have together Would be lost unless we try Make the most of each day And to let our feelings fly

We've been through it all before But you brought it up once more I let you down, you can't forget it You forgave me but you won't let it fade away

Put it all behind us Will I always have to pay Something I'm not proud of Is there nothing I can say

I know you are angry I know you're for real I know how much I hurt you, darling That's the way you feel

I will not discuss the past Life goes by us much too fast To look behind and dwell on trouble Someday it could burst our bubble by and by

Put it all behind us Will I always have to pay Something I'm not proud of Is there nothing I can say

All we have together Would be lost unless we try Make the most of each day And to let our feelings fly

Put it all behind us Will I always have to pay Something I'm not proud of Is there nothing I can say

All we have together Would be lost unless we try Make the most of each day And to let our feelings fly