

Baby Take Your Bow

Chris Rice

We're gonna miss your song and dance
The way you made us laugh
And we're so glad we had the pleasure for awhile
But on the other side, you'll find a better audience
Just be yourself and you can't help but make the angels smile

Baby all the world's a stage
Playwright pens your final page
And then he brings your curtain down
So blow us your kisses and drench our eyes
We'll rise to our feet to wave goodbye for now
So baby take a bow

The world is lovelier because you had your moment here
And we could see a friend of heaven in your face
And in your song we heard the longing for a distant shore
Now your time has come to go
And so be on your way

Baby all the world's a stage
Playwright pens your final page
And then he brings your curtain down
So blow us your kisses and drench our eyes
We'll rise to our feet to wave goodbye for now
So baby take a bow
Your show is over now
It's time to lay your burdens down
So baby take your bow
