Chron Gen

I sing this song and the morning light
Comes burning through and it's all bright
Come round in bed with a throbbing head
And nothing seems to go quite right

Forgetting mind and hearts? are blind to reason or delight
And I can't seem to come to terms to face the brand new day

I'm breaking down, I'm breaking down, down, down, down
I'm breaking down, I'm breaking down, down, down, down
I'm breaking down, I'm breaking down, down, down, down

Voices sound like they're too loud, it's up too fierce and great
A vicious slash, my temper lost, controlling starts too late
I have killed a friend of mine, my conscience starts to pain
I have to trem? these solos just to ease this guilty brain

I'm breaking down, I'm breaking down, down, down, down
I'm breaking down, I'm breaking down, down, down, down
I'm breaking down, I'm breaking down, down, down, down

I'm breaking down, I'm breaking down, down, down, down
I'm breaking down, I'm breaking down, down, down, down
I'm breaking down, I'm breaking down, down, down, down
