Miss You

Eric Clapton

Don't change your mind, I ain't got the time to sit and wonder. I'm doing fine. If you decide to leave, I won't go under.

You know I've come this far without you; It won't be too hard to be alone. I've got choices all around me, So I won't be spending too much time at home.

Girl, I'm gonna miss you. I'm gonna miss you, baby. I can't forgive you, Instead I'm gonna miss you, baby.

No, don't say a word. I already heard that you don't love me. In your state of mind, I don't need to hear your side of the story.

Your friends all said we had a future And I don't think I really want to know. My friends keep telling me to lose you And how glad they'll be when you decide to go.

I broke my back to make you happy. Sometime, somehow, someone's got to care. If you think you're better off without me, Just remember, it's a dirty world out there.

I'm gonna miss the ground you walk on, Gonna miss the air you breathe. I'm just not quite happy, baby, 'bout your crazy plans to leave.
