The Sky Is Crying

Eric Clapton

The sky is crying, Look at the tears rolling down the streets. The sky is crying, Look at the tears rolling down the streets. I looked out my window, The rain was falling down in sheets.

My baby left me this morning, Lord knows I don't know the reason why. My baby left me this morning, I don't know the reason why. And everytime I think about it, I hang my head and cry.

The sun is shining, Although it's raining in my heart. The sun is shining, Although it's raining in my heart. I love my baby, I hate to see us part.