

Love Enough

Cliff Richard

Something goes wrong, something goes right
And it either punishes or strokes our pride
We never stop to think how much we lose
When we pick and choose in our solitude

Something comes up, something goes down
Suddenly you feel you're pushed around
And just because you think you're losing hold
You try to take control; the story is very old

If we ever get our minds made up
Then all we have to do is love enough
Won't be long before it comes to you
Givin' love enough to follow through
All you need is love enough

Someone wants in, someone wants out
But doesn't anybody see beyond the cloud
Men you hardly learn to speak your name
Before you're in the game but they remain all the same

If we ever get our minds made up
Then all we have to do is love enough
Won't be long before it comes to you
Givin' love enough to follow through
All you need is love enough
