

Take Action

Cliff Richard

Take action when your love has gone and run away
Take action when you want to learn the way to play
Don't be afraid to walk out in the rain
Don't be afraid your love is still the same

Your mind is full of everything and all it sees
You're picking up a life with all its memories
Don't be afraid, never change your ways and looks
Don't be afraid, your life is like a history book

Never mind, never mind
There'll always be a door for you to stay behind
Never fear, never fear
You're running but you're standing still and I'm still here

Your mind is full of everything and all it sees
You're picking up a life with all its memories
Don't be afraid, never change your ways and looks
Don't be afraid, your life is like a history book

Never mind, never mind
There'll always be a door for you to stay behind
Never fear, never fear
You're running but you're standing still and I'm still here

Your mind is full of everything and all it sees
You're picking up your life with all its memories
Don't be afraid, never change your ways and looks
Don't be afraid, your life is like a history book

Take action when your love has gone and run away
Take action when you want to learn the way to play

Take action when your love has gone and run away
Take action when you want to learn the way to play

Take action when your love has gone and run away
Take action when you want to learn the way to play

Take action when your love has gone and run away
Take action when you want to learn the way to play