

You don't hear your intuition, cuz it says you aint no follower
.

And it says you aint no yellow belly.

And it says you aint no broken horse.

And it says you are here to take the punches, in one by one.

You're here to learn your lessons one by one.

You're here to peel your layers off one by one by one by one by one by one.

You don't hear your intuition, cuz it says you were blessed with sensitivity.

But it says you can't fly with such a heavy heart.

So it says you gotta do what must be done, so learn to do it with some levity, levity.

You are here to let the cards fall one by one.

You're here to let your walls down one by one.

You're here to peel the layers off one by one by one by one by one by one.

If you keep trying to fill your holes with the next best thing well, then the next best thing will give you more and more holes.

Yeah, you were better as a simple one, simple one

So peel your layers off one by one by one.

Go peel your layers off one by one by one by one by one by one by one.