

Let down through the breakthrough I travel as I hunger for the darkness below me when I'm praying for the light above to save this soul inside me

Should I? Would I? Could I?

Outcast from my own kind never knowing soaring through my own mind never knowing how could they live with what their doing twist of my spine

Oh god fuck

I don't get it breathe with me just breathe with me

It's up to me as I hunger lay slow and still as I wonder pray for darkness down in this hollow but I try to grope

It's up to me as I sleep again my body lays down as I holler it's all inside but I confess in me I like me
