

Tomorrow

Coasts

When you're broken again
But the weight that was hanging around your neck has been sinking away
You're free as a bird in a violent sky
And I want you to know
As the spectrum of colour fades tonight
We're at the end of the road
But every little thing is gonna be alright

Tomorrow
Wait for the setting sun
There's always tomorrow
Know that you're not the only one

Tomorrow
Wait for the setting sun
There's always tomorrow
Know that you're not the only one

How do you feel
Now the embers have gone and we've grown apart
And we question what's real
If the time that we gave would've made a mark
And remember today
When the crowds open up and you step outside
Know that every little thing is going to be alright

Tomorrow
Wait for the setting sun
There's always tomorrow
Know that you're not the only one

Tomorrow
Wait for the setting sun
There's always tomorrow
Know that you're not the only one

A new day
Another twist of fate
Don't let it go to waste
Like sunshine through?

Tomorrow
Wait for the setting sun
There's always tomorrow
Know that you're not the only one

Tomorrow

Tomorrow, yeah

Tomorrow
Wait for the setting sun
There's always tomorrow
Know that you're not the only one