

Stay the Course

coldrain

I thought that I could do this on my own
I thought that I could conquer any storm
But lost in the tide, I hear your voice echoing
"Stay the course"

I look upon the sky at night
Thinking of the stars that shine
Tormented by every light
Letting darkness comfort me

Here I am, stranded in distress
Sinking to the ocean bed
Here I am, short of oxygen
But life goes on and on and on

I thought that I could do this on my own
I thought that I could conquer any storm
But lost in the tide, I hear your voice echoing
"Stay the course"

Fighting endless wars inside
Living on the edge of an knife
But how could I be losing sight
When I have you in my life?

Here I am, stranded in distress
Sinking to the ocean bed
Here I am, short of oxygen
But life goes on and on and on without me
Without me

I thought that I could do this on my own
I thought that I could conquer any storm
Now at the bottom, the only thing I hear is you

I thought that I could do this on my own
I thought that I could conquer any storm
But lost in the tide, I hear your voice echoing
"Stay the course"

I'm on my own
On my own
But lost in the tide, I hear your voice echoing
"Stay the course"
