

I Changed My Mind

Conway Twitty

Today, the thought of leaving you wander through my mind
And woke the sleep and memories that we make
I thought about the love we knew, that one day upped and died
It wasn't even strong enough to fake

Soon as I am strong enough, I pull myself away
You didn't love me long enough, to hurt me anyway
Then you come to me and say, you're sorry one more time
I changed my mind

I've been good and true to you but you don't even care
I'd be better off if you've just turned up gone
But then the thought of losing you is more than I can bear
Yes, I'm too weak to make it on my own

Soon as I am strong enough, I pull myself away
You didn't love me long enough, to hurt me anyway
Then you come to me and say, you're sorry one more time
I changed my mind
I changed my mind