Corporate Avenger

mediocracy
our hypocrisy
we won't survive
our technology
our duality
the balance beam
is teetering
to our extinction

man as animal
earth ritual
a rythm to our lives
from the morning sun
'til the night would come
time was on our side
we got smarter and smarter and larger and we lost our spiritual side we learned to kill so good it's a wonder we survived our own design

mediocracy
our hypocrisy
we won't survive
our technology
our duality
the balance beam
is teetering

the meglomanity
of our humanity
it left an opening
with no connection
so we were compromised
it led to our demise
now our inventions sing
of our extinction

here we are today
about to celebrate
our greatest acheivements
the grandness of our size
it's right before our eyes now they know they're alive they get smaller and smaller And smarter and smarter man if they get a plan
to tell the story
of how they got rid of man

our duality

ego maniacs
sailed into the black
the silver cord was broke we'll never make it back
by our own device
we were compromised
now we're teetering
on our extinction

our duality
is teetering
