

There's all these vacant eyes in the club tonight
We look a lot more human here
You know I loved you once for a couple months
You were just too drunk to care

They only want you when you're gone (So I don't try it's easier
)
Of all the truths, the hardest one (For when you call not to an swer)

But I learnt a lot of life
From watching what we had die

I held you like you were a kitchen knife
Now I don't hold you at all
Under the sapphire light of this lonely night
I dance along, don't feel much no more

You make it harder just to sleep (So I don't try it's easier)
With all the secrets you don't keep (for when you call not to a nswer)

But I learnt a lot of life
From watching what we had die
And I learnt a lot of life
From watching what we had die

Did you see the stars shine above you?
Did he hold your hand like I used to?
I know that in this world there are two types of people -
The ones you walk away from, the ones that you'll give in to Identify and exorcise

Did you see the stars shine above you?
Did he hold your hand like I used to?
I know that in this world there are two types of people -
The ones you walk away from, the ones that you'll give in to

They only want you when you're gone (So I don't try it's easier
Of all the truths, the hardest one (For when you call not to an swer)

But I learnt a lot of life
From watching what we had die
But I learnt a lot of life
From watching what we had die
