Already Yours

A gift from God, a small creation A prized possession without limitations Behind these eyes, what do you see that isn't Already yours Already yours Already yours In fact I never wanted anything more In fact I've never wanted anything less Oh you shouldn't treat me like a stranger Do you see I have the same effect Only this time on you Behind your eyes, what can I see that isn't Already you Already you Already you Voices of angels that I have heard Voices of angels, I have heard Voices of angels, I have heard Voices of angels that I have heard Behind these eyes, what can I see that isn't Already there Already yours Already there Already, already yours (Don't run away) [Repeat x 6]

Curve