

Captured

Darlene Zschech

Here I stand my heart is crying out for you
I will wait, I will love
I look to you in the sanctuary
Drinking deep from your holy fountain

You've captured my heart again
And I need you more
Than the morning needs the light
You've captured my heart again
For I know that I
I can't live without your love

Fill me now with the breath of heaven
Beholding you I am free
You and I
We're meant to be together
Forever yours in your holy presence

You've captured my heart again
And I need you more
Than the heavens need to sing

There's none beside you
None beside you
There's none before you
Beside you
There's no other like you my God

And I need you more
Than the oceans need the rain
You've captured my heart again
And I know that
I can't live without your love

You've captured my heart again
And I need you more
Than the winter need a song
You've captured my heart again
For I know that I
I can't live without your love
