

Welcome Home

Darren Criss

Welcome home says the street
As I hurry on my way
Welcome home sings the gate like a song
Welcome home says the door
Glad to feel your hand once more
Now you're back where you belong

Welcome home says the chair
Holding out its friendly arms
Welcome home says the bed, rest on me
Now you're back where you should be
Close your eyes, close your eyes
Let the world settle down to size

Welcome home says the lamp
Lighting up familiar things
Look around at your friends good and true
Get your cares all untied
While you're warming up inside

Welcome home to you, welcome home to you

Welcome home ticks the clock
Now it's time to get undressed
Welcome home says the floor to your shoes
When you turn off the light and the darkness says goodnight

Welcome home to you, welcome home to you
