

This Is Who We Are

Dash Berlin

This is who we are
This is who we are
We set the world on fire
This is who we are

We are the young ones drifting away our soul
Somewhere on the high line (High line)
We are the cold hearts lighting up as we go
Like it is the last time (Last time)
We're burning it down, we live to break
Then start over and over again
Into the dark, when life's too late
We start over and over again
This is who we are
This is who we are
We set the world on fire
This is who we are

We start over and over again
This is who we are
This is who we are
We set the world on fire
This is who we are

We're burning it down, we live to break
Then start over and over again
Into the dark, when life's too late
We start over and over again
This is who we are
This is who we are
We set the world on fire
This is who we are

We start over and over again
This is who we are
This is who we are
We set the world on fire
This is who we are
