I'll Never Go

David Archuleta

You always ask me Those words I say And tellin' me what it means to me Every single day You always act this way For how many times I told you I love you for this is all I know

Come to me and hold me And you will see The love I give For you still hold the key Every single day You always act this way For how many times I told you I love you for this is all I know

I'll never go far away from you Even the sky will tell you That I need you so For this is all I know I'll never go far away from you

Come to me and hold me And you will see The love I give For you still hold the key Every single day You always act this way For how many times I told you I love you for this is all I know

I'll never go far away from you Even the sky will tell you That I need you so For this is all I know I'll never go far away from you

I'll never go far away from you Even the sky will tell you That I need you so For this is all I know I'll never go far away from you

That I need you so For this is all I know I'll never go far away from you That I need you so For this is all I know I'll never go far away from you
