

Hands against the wall, about to lose control
I must now improvise
Just need some water and sunlight, yeah
Too late to call cause I need to know
What this is gonna be when the dark consumes the light

(So bad I gotta feel)
Why'd you have to
Go and change
I need the body
Like the storm needs some rain

I'm giving up on us, baby
Cause your soul will surely be missed
But if that's what you want, I'll respect that thought
So I'm giving up on us, baby, yeah

Too much to ask to remove the past
We could make love work it out
My eyes are hollowed and petrified, yeah
Can't take them all, can't take them all
My heart is losing to the dark
Consume the light

(So bad I gotta feel)
Why'd you have to
Go and change
I need the body
Like the storm needs some rain

I'm giving up on us, baby
Cause your soul will surely be missed
But if that's what you want, I'll respect that thought
So I'm giving up on us, baby, yeah

I know how it feels
To be broken again
Untangle the souls
That tear between a friend
You are love, and love is you
And I'll raise a toast to the broken and the revolution

I'm giving up on us, baby
Cause your soul will surely be missed
But if that's what you want, I'll respect that thought
So I'm giving up on us, baby, yeah
