

Memory

Decyfer Down

Hidden under lock and key
Always had the best of intentions

And even though I try to hide
I recall no peace of mind
A life that was so pretentious

I need to know where I've come from
Look at the man that I've become

Take me from this madness
Take me from this pain
Take me from this sadness
But don't take my memory

I remember feeling whole
Now I'm just a dying soul
I know truth is kind of blinding

But since You know me so well
And You know how I feel
Won't You please come and remind me

I need to know what I've become
I need to know where I've come from

Take me from this madness
Take me from this pain
Take me from this sadness
Take me from this shame

Take me from this madness
Take me from this pain
Take me from this sadness
But don't take my memory

I'm remembering everything locked up so tight
I digress to progress my life with You
I'm alright

Take me from this madness
Take me from this pain
Take me from this sadness
Take me from this shame

Take me from this madness
Take me from this pain
Take me from this sadness
But don't take my memory
