Believe the Lie

Time you died for your religion Hypnotized by his infliction Go to him, he is your savior Leave this place, do us a favor

Believe the lie of a god you'll never know Prepare to die when you least expect to go A desperate mind will ignore reality The word of christ has you lost in fantasy

Believe the lie to reside with him in death Conserve to buy into what he's promising Don't be so blind not to mind hypocrisy You just might find what you want can never be

Take your life, be a true christian For the lies of his existence Sacrifice rendered unable Book of god, it is a fable

Believe the lie to return from which we came The serpent's light has you mesmerized again When faith decides suicide at heaven's whim Believe the lie, you are saved from all your sins

When is life worth a religion Ease your mind, make the incision Prey to him, incoming stranger Son of god dead in the manger

Deicide
