Fight

Deine Lakaien

Sometimes you try Sometimes you win But often failure is your king So you feel safe and warm inside You take your chance from time to time I am here again And I force the weak to fight I am here again And I won't leave you a light You make them angry Yes you are smooth Your nails are painted and you cry When you loose But other people won't get asked They just get kicked while othes laugh I am here again And I force the weak to fight Yes it is me again And I won't leave you a light Don't have to tell That's it's a shame A pope is praying and we are Building frames

We're sharing sympathy for lords And look aside while dead birds drop

I am here again And I force the weak to fight I am here again And I won't leave you a light
