Truly

Delerium

I know good things, I know bad as well Any witness to the world will tell If there is sorrow, then there is beauty and trust A secret pearl inside the heart of us

So truly, if there's light then I want to see it Now that I know what I am looking for Truly, if there;s joy then I want to feel it Here in this world is where I want to be 'Cause I can't cry anymore

And there is magic now, under blood red trees, All the sky will scream a mystery And if we're strangers here, from the day we are born Why be afraid of freedom if it is yours?

So truly, if there's light then I want to see it Now that I know what I am looking for Truly, if there;s joy then I want to feel it Here in this world is where I want to be 'Cause I can't cry anymore

All the world is calling, calling out my name All the world is saying it won't be the same All the sky is showing how it;s gonna be But I'm scared and I'm tired of being like me...

So truly, if there's light then I want to see it Now that I know what I am looking for Truly, if there;s joy then I want to feel it Here in this world is where I want to be 'Cause I can't cry anymore
