

If you choose to take that road
If you choose to take that road
I can only wish you love
If you choose to take that road
I can only wish you love

In the end all I gathered was a truth be told
The more I think I know the less I do behold
Truth be cold I'm buzzing for a cure to all that's insecure
Saying everyone's special means that no one is
Nobody's gonna love you like nobody's biz
Till you do
Now look at that, I hold one truth

If you choose to take that road
If you choose to take that road
I can only wish you love
If you choose to take that road
If you choose to take that road
I can only wish you love

To those who sprinkle my lone heart with stars
Not gone but merely frozen on my memory's arch
To be bold, scrap and renew, keep pushing reboot
As I hope to forgive I hope to never learn
I only got so many other cheeks to turn
When I do, truth is there ain't no truth
You are the parting proof

If you choose to take that road
If you choose to take that road
I can only wish you love
If you choose to take that road
If you choose to take that road
I can only wish you love

If you choose to take that road
If you choose to take that road
I can only wish you love
If you choose to take that road
If you choose to take that road
I can only wish you love

Love
Love
Love
Love
