

Where the Things Have No Colour

Destrage

Can you remember when you were alive?
Feeling the air as pure energy blowing right into your mind
That's what i felt if i had ever been aware

I will sink deep into the ocean
Where the hings have no colour
I wish I could breathe under water
Where the cold will hurt
Where my ears will burn

You won't take this moment away from me
And make me a silent slave of yours
You won't put me down on my knees
I will make this time as I always meant

Breathing as I never breath before
I won't be a victim of this ice cold scorching sun
I am the little child who laughs for no reason

I will sink deep into the ocean
Where the hings have no colour
I wish I could breathe under water
Where the cold will hurt
Where my ears will burn

You won't take this moment away from me
And make me a silent slave of yours
You won't put me down on my knees
I will make this time as I always meant

You won't take this moment away
I will make this time as I always meant it to be

Now I can look at things and see them as beautiful as ever

You won't take this moment away from me
And make me a silent slave of yours
You won't put me down on my knees
I will make this time as I always meant

You won't put me down on my knees
You won't put me down on my knees
You won't put me down on my knees
You won't put me down on my knees
