

Things of No Importance

Destruction

choose your god your life's too short to compensate for your lack of comprehension society and god may be, but mortality is no human invention now you see what's frightening me and if you're afraid this was not my intention seek your own principle god love, wealth, eternal youth but that's of no importance now as you must see the truth burn the trees pollute the seas in stupidity you're doubting god's existence living blindly you cannot find what lies behind life but no one needs assurance things you want and things you do and things you love are things of no importance
