Why Should I Care?

Diana Krall

Was there something more I could have done? Or was I not meant to be the one? Where's the life I thought we would share? And should I care?

And will someone else get more of you?
Will she go to sleep more sure of you?
Will she wake up knowing you're still there?
And why should I care?

There's always one to turn and walk away And one who just wants to stay But who said that love is always fair? And why should I care?

Should I leave you alone here in the dark? Holding my broken heart While a promise still hangs in the air Why should I care?