

No Easy Way

Digital Daggers

I'm a victim of my instinct.
Unraveling and reeling, think I'm wise.
Our freedom can be deadly.
I watch the walls around me, falling down.
So far away, from safe and sound.
I've lost control, I've lost control

Where do I run? Where do I run now?
There's no easy way, no easy way out.
When everything's come, when everything's come, undone.
There's no easy way, no easy way, out.

I'm prisoned, but believing.
Twisting my delusions, best beware.
My peace can be deceiving.
I'm steady in the deep end of despair.
So far away, from safe and sound.
I've lost control, I've lost control

Where do I run? Where do I run now?
There's no easy way, no easy way out.
When everything's come, when everything's come, undone.
There's no easy way, no easy way, out.

No easy way out.
There's no easy way, no easy way, out.

Where do I run? Where do I run now?
There's no easy way, no easy way out.
When everything's come, when everything's come, undone.
There's no easy way, no easy way, out.

There's no easy way, no easy way, out.

When everything's come, when everything's come, undone.
There's no easy way, no easy way, no easy way, no easy way, out
