Captives Of The Heart

Dionne Warwick

You looked at me, did all the moves
The language of the heart, we speak with our eyes
Endless nights surrounding us
There's no one in the world except you and I

We are two captives of the heart, it was as easy as a kiss Somethings happen that are magic from the start Tomorrows change the rest tonight, whatever happens from now on You and I will be two captives of the heart

You move your hand across my skin Sweet music to the touch, I rise to the sun And once again we taste the truth We're prisoners of our love, it grows on and on

We are two captives of the heart We feel too much to turn away Yet we know enough of love To be afraid

We lie silent as the stars, two people turning into one Breathless victims of the perfect love we make Nothing's ever gonna change, nothing will remain the same For all our lives, this is the night we'll remember

Ooh, it's magic

We are two captives of the heart, it was as easy as a kiss Somethings happen that are magic from the start Tomorrows change the rest tonight, whatever happens from now on You and I will be two captives of the heart

Ooh my baby, captives of the heart, it was as easy as a kiss Somethings happen that are magic from the start
