

Warholian Wigs

Dirty Projectors

With a longing upward and out
To meet those rosy slopes
And explode into them
Before they erode

The failing time flattens out
Like the optimism of old
Whose tribulation has become rosy

My star could crest
Parabolic
Over the etched stream
And its etching