The Final Victory

I'm waiting for the answers I hope my prayers will be heard When I face the madness running wild

I see my friends are searching Searching deep within To find the peace for their inner man

The spirit of the world will rule Aim for the throne Finally the world will see the truth The King will return

He sacrified his life He took our sins away He rose from the dead The final victory He paid the price for you Eternal love will reign Darkness fades away The final victory The final victory The final victory

The image of the beast Will try to blind you from the truth He's deceptive through an through The solid rock will never fail The guardian angels are warning me When evil comes around

Devil in disguise Father of lies The game is over Serpent's head is crushed

From the bottom of my heart I wanna see you there I care so much for you

Divinefire