```
i can see your eyes how they're watching (me) how you burn with passion for what it's worth you have my undivided attention don't stop till you get it right yeah don't stop till you see daylight this is the tension don't stop till get it right now don't stop till you see daylight can't imagine life without this wonder why i burn with questions my comfort is missing but my soul is in motion this is the tension

```