We once were so close now the love light that glowed has now go ne out of our lives

And the good life we had for some reason went bad

And the love that once lived here has died

How did we get here where did it start when did we walk out of each other's heart

Where did we lose it how did love die when where and how but mo st of all why

Most of all why did we let love die like the withering leaves i ${\bf n}$ the fall

And why did we wait till it was too late to realize how much we 'd lost

How did we get here...

When where and how but most of all why
