

Heartbreak Armageddon

DragonForce

Our way of emptiness outside the burning wall
Rise again, this quest for our salvation
Gunning faster than the savage laughter, the daylight fades away
Nothing left but the life we left behind

Ever searching the hidden faces, the hatred boils inside
Broken down and the far below destroyed
Light years away, empty worlds between us
So turn away, say goodbye for the last time tonight

Still lost within the lonely, a lifetime ago
Hanging on as we pass through the fields
These pieces of our lives will lead the long journey home
And the wounds never heal

So fly for the last time while the fire burns within
Silently we stand in a long forgotten wasteland
Rise through the lost ages, hope they will bring
Free forever more and the dream will never die

Devastation, the lost connection, it weighs down many tons
So confused and alone for one more time

Crushed, defeated, the force surrounded, the free stay trapped inside
System down, feel the raging war tonight
Time after time, promises of freedom
Will leave the past behind and strike for the first time tonight

Still mystified by lack of privation they show
After all of the trials we've been through
These memories of empty worlds were all lost in vain
And the scars never heal

So fly for the last time while the fire burns within
Silently we stand in a long forgotten wasteland
Rise through the lost ages, hope they will bring
Free forever more and the dream will never die

Fly for the last time while the fire burns within
Silently we stand in a long forgotten wasteland
Rise through the lost ages, hope they will bring
Free forever more and the dream will never die

Fly for the last time while the fire burns within
Silently we stand in a long forgotten wasteland
Rise through the lost ages, hope they will bring
Free forever more and the dream will never die
Woah, and the dream will never die