Once In A Lifetime

DragonForce

Dark clouds and thunderstorms in the fires and flames were born

Through darkness traveling on the night Hellfires and rain will fall time is coming for us all Our journey for the guiding light

Firelight it is burning so bright in the dark of the night As we fight for the glory tonight there's nowhere to hide On the wings of your destiny brings all the power you crave Careful now if not you then who else will we save

Lost in this world a total stranger

Death by the sword a common danger

Daylight ahead is only lurking

Break through the walls and use the power of your dreams

Once in a lifetime take a chance at the right time the glory to see

Rise up for the time of your life Now the time has come for you to be free

In the minds of society we all live in harmony Truth is that we all die in vain You stand for what you believe I kill for what I conceive Is there then a title for this game?

Far away in the wastelands of hell full of torment and pain $\mbox{\it Demon}$ knights riding over the heights where the fallen are slain

Violent fury of firestorming death now no life will prevail Now you live all your days in the fires of hell

Lost in this world a total stranger

Death by the sword a common danger

You know that everything is not what it seems

March on all night forever searching

Daylight ahead is only lurking

Break through the walls and use the power of your dreams

Once in a lifetime take a chance at the right time the glory to see...