Revelations

DragonForce

Coming down the mountain on high Towards the battle we go side by side Our hearts are filled with honor and pride 'Cause we know our time has come

Silent voices down from below Rising up through the ice and the snow Ancient angers cast upon all Through the land of the slain

Through the dark night, through the rain Fighting machine we are risen again Striving forever more We will survive

Stand and fight! Join the light
Into the battle with power and might
Sound the guns
Raise the cannons of war

With the North Star to guide us we ride on the sky Blazing up through the Heavens like eagles we fly And the horsemen shall come, they will judge all your lives Revelations will now be unveiled

Darkened night set to swallow the light All is lost there's no one left to fight Overpowered by the glory and might Of the ones who stand tall

Fallen heroes scattered around Deafened ears opens up to the sound Painful cries rising forever more From the victims of life and of war

Through the dark night, through the rain Fighting machine we are risen again Striving forever more
We will survive

Stand and fight! Join the light
Into the battle with power and might
Sound the guns
Raise the cannons of war

With the North Star to guide us we ride on the sky Blazing up through the Heavens like eagles we fly And the horsemen shall come, they will judge all your lives Revelations will now be unveiled

No more hope of freedom, our dreams are washed away The second age is coming, it's the dawn of a new day Judgment stands before us, the second king will rise Our swords will shine with honor, hatred fills the sky Hatred fills the sky, yeah
