

Paper Thin

Dream On, Dreamer

Paper thin

They say it always ends like this

There's stains now on your cheeks clenched fist

Now I'll take the risk

And tell you I'm leaving

And tell you I'm leaving

I need you to ask your heart about it

Keep your head up, there's only so much I can do

I see you when I dream about it

Wrap your hands around, it only takes the void from you

Paper thin

They say it always ends like this

There's stains now on your cheeks clenched fist

Now I'll take the risk

And tell you I'm leaving

A feeling, I can live without it

I think it's time to move on before we come undone

Just tell me how you end up in sadness

I hate to see you, see you like this all the time

Paper thin

They say it always ends like this

There's stains now on your cheeks clenched fist

Now I'll take the risk

And tell you I'm leaving

You controlled me already, destroyed everything about me

'Cause I just want to feel like home again

If seeing is believing

Some things in life don't always need explaining

This feeling is changing

You gotta find the freedom in just leaving it all behind

Paper thin

They say it always ends like this

There's stains now on your cheeks clenched fist

Now I'll take the risk

And tell you I'm leaving

(And tell you I'm leaving)
