

Surrounded

Dream Theater

Morning comes too early and nighttime falls too late And sometimes all I want to do is wait
The shadow I've been hiding in has fled from me today

I know it's easier to walk away
than look it in the eye
But I will raise a shelter to the sky and here beneath this star tonight I'll lie She will slowly yield the light
As I awaken from the longest night

Dreams are shaking Set sirens waking up tired eyes With the light the memories all rush into his head

By a candle stands a mirror Of his heart and soul she dances
She was dancing thru the night above his bed

And walking to the window he throws the shutters out against the wall
And from an ivory tower hears her call
"Let light surround you"

It's been a long, long time He's had a while to think it over In the end he only sees the change
Light to dark Dark to light
Light to dark
Dark to light

Heaven must be more than this When angels waken with a kiss Sacred hearts won't take the pain
But mine will never be the same

He stands before the window His shadow slowly fading from the wall
And from an ivory tower hears
her call
"Let the light surround you"

Once lost but I was found

When I heard the stained glass shatter all around me I sent the spirits tumbling down the hill
But I will hold this one on high above me still I once could see but now at last I'm blind

I know it's easier to walk away
than look it in the eye
But I had given all that I could take
And now I've only habits left to break
Tonight I'll still be lying here Surrounded in all the light