

Awake

Electric Guest

Back to sin again, must be fate the wait was all day
Black acts to amend at the gate awaiting to taste

Something perished past and gone away
And nothing ever lasts that hesitates

Cause I know these days are calling out the simple sets in the skyline
These days they call wind, it's gone
Season of the wake
They are calling out and shooting in a silent cave
We set the sails again alone
Season of the wake

Back from holiday in my head the ocean calling
Magic in the grave at the end the old way falling

Something calling asking to create
The only other lasting love to make

Cause I know these days are calling out the simple sets in the skyline
These days they call wind, it's gone
Season of the wake
They are calling out and shooting in a silent cave
We set the sails again alone
Season of the wake

Cause there's something between
There's something within, I'm awake
All my friends
There's something between Because something within, I'm awake
You're all my, friends
I've been long, enough awake
I'm alone
I've been long enough awake
I'm alone (repeat)

We've got a feeling of the day
Last time wasn't what we made but we make away
Love is our only true escape
Fear is nothing washed away awake away awake

Last time wasn't what we made but we make away
