No One Can Save You

Don't try to say sorry Don't try to say anything I gave you my everything And you threw it all away, away

And I try to build you up But you just fall, you just fall And I can't save you no more, no I can't save you from yourself No one can save you, no one can save you from yourself

I call for you but you never come You broke me up and just left me undone You showed me who I can't be So you enjoy a life of lonely misery

And I try to build you up But you just fall, you just fall And I can't save you no more, no I can't save you from yourself No one can save you, no one can save you from yourself No one can save you, no one can save you from yourself